

Bands4Change Interview with Kesha

What is your role in the universe?

My role in the universe is to spread love and magic into people's lives. I'm a rainbow 🌈

What do you want to be remembered by?

I want to be remembered for standing up for equality and freedom for all living creatures. We are all equal and deserve equal rights, and we should all celebrate exactly who we are exactly as we are. The strive for perfection isn't real or healthy because perfection is a relative ideal, and by stopping the comparisons between each other, we realize we are all perfect just as we are. I would love to be remembered as a positive strong woman who helped other people feel good about themselves and empowered in their bodies and their mind.

What are you most thankful for?

I'm thankful for everything. My family, my fans, my animals, the universe, the ocean, every show I play, and every morning I wake up. Literally every day is a gift and we are not guaranteed anything in this life. I'm thankful for every breath I take.

What social issue bothers you the most? What's one thing you'd like to change about the world?

I can't stand for any sort of discrimination against anyone - no matter race, religion, gender, sexuality or ANYTHING else. This country was founded on the principle that everyone was created equal and that's what I believe on a cellular level. I hope people can feel free and safe just being themselves.

Do you think the country is drastically divided? Why or why not?

I think our country is united in wanting the best for our collective future - I chose to believe that love is the best way to get there.

What motivated you to be an activist for human rights and animal rights?

My mom taught me to love everyone and everything - she taught not only are we all equal - we are no different from any other animal - so we should love all living things. I also believe that it is my right to stand up and speak up about anyone being discriminated against. It is my duty to help any person receive the same rights as any other person, and I really do believe we need to reach out to others when they are in a time of need because karmically it always comes back around. As humans we all fall down once in awhile and we need to know that someone will help us back up and vice versa.

What is the most crucial thing that humans need to do in order to protect the environment and its wildlife?

Slow down and appreciate nature, look up, speak out. stay woke.

Do you think there will be a day when everyone is treated as equals? Why or why not?

Yes I believe we all are equal and I stay positive that we will all find that truth one day.
